Honeywell

TRADELINE® Product Cross Reference

The TRADELINE Cross Reference lists direct or functional replacements for almost 75,000 old and new Honeywell, OEM and competitive controls.

The control and accessory replacements listed are available from your local Honeywell TRADELINE wholesalers or authorized distributors. They can help you select and provide the right control for new or replacement applications. Note that certain Honeywell product lines are available only through authorized distributors. (See Authorized Distributors)

IMPORTANT

This cross reference lists both direct and functional replacements. In all cases where a functional replacement is identified, it is the responsibility of the installer to verify that the replacement is suitable for installation. This may require referring to the product specification sheets, contacting the equipment manufacturer or other steps to ensure that the safety of the control system is maintained.

CROSS REFERENCE ORGANIZATION

1. In the Item Replaced column, controls are listed in alphanumeric order by product number. Product numbers starting with a number are listed first, followed by product numbers starting with a letter.
2. The Manufacturer column lists the manufacturer of the control to be replaced.
3. The Replacement Type column indicates whether the replacement suggestion is a Direct replacement, a Functional replacement (which may need additional accessories or adjustments) or No replacement. Note that functional replacements may vary in characteristics such as size, capillary length, temperature range, etc. Therefore, be sure to verify that the replacement suggested will work for your application.
4. The Replacement column lists the suggested replacement by complete product number. In some cases, only a model family may be listed. To the right of the replacement product number the test WITH or OR may appear. If the text WITH appears, the replacement must be used with the item listed in the row below. If the text OR appears, either the replacement in this row or in the row below will work.
5. Each replacement suggestion can display Remarks such as reference to other technical literature or supplemental publications to consult when replacing the model. If there is no exact replacement, or if Remarks refers you to other supplemental cross references such as FIRING LINE, consult the publication for more information. Otherwise, contact your local Honeywell supplier or sales representative.
6. Where the remarks indicate SEE RECONTROL PROCEDURE, this means NO HONEYWELL REPLACEMENT control is available for you to use, and recontrol may be necessary. This may occur for many reasons, including significant changes in technology, changes in Honeywell's product portfolio, and changes in design requirements by Original Equipment Manufacturers. Wherever possible, Honeywell will try to point you in the right direction, especially if another manufacturer offers a product that will work. In certain gas valve applications, for example, we may recommend you use a high-capacity gas valve made by Robertshaw.
   However, there will be many cases where a complete recontrol will be required. Here are some suggestions for steps you should take, shown in order of priority:
   a. Contact your local wholesaler—one who is highly competent in controls. These wholesalers are well suited to examine your particular situation and recommend a control solution.
   b. If this approach fails to solve your problem, contact the original equipment manufacturer (OEM). Most OEMs have toll-free numbers for installer and wholesaler questions. OEMs are better suited than Honeywell to address questions about recontrolling to meet their equipment's specifications.

HONEYWELL AUTHORIZED DISTRIBUTORS

Certain Honeywell product lines are available only through Authorized Distributors. Authorized distributors have chosen to make a commitment to representing Honeywell controls. They are committed to excellence:

- in education, by providing continuing training in HVAC industry developments to their employees.
- in application, by choosing the right system for each application.
- in marketing, by providing customers with accurate information and efficient service.
